Quarterly Fund Manager Review

We've had a dramatic start to the year. US exceptionalism has been challenged as unpredictable trade policies and aggressive tariffs have unsettled investors. Starting with equities, our overweight position was maintained over the quarter; however, the composition of the regional tilts changed and we progressively trimmed the combined long exposure over the quarter. At the start of the quarter, the equity overweight was focused on the US, Europe, and the US Financials sector, having already started to diversify our exposure away from the US later last year. The overweight position in US equities was ultimately closed towards the end of the quarter, recognising index concentration and that uncertainty had increased due to Trump's policies. We maintained an overweight tilt towards European equities to reflect both positive business sentiment due to the fiscal measures announced by the German government and the expectation that easing from the ECB could provide a tailwind. Finally, we also diversified our long equity exposure to include emerging market (EM) equities in March, given the potential for a weaker US dollar and a more positive outlook on China. In fixed income, the overweight to European high-yield bonds was maintained; however, the size of the position was trimmed over the quarter. While they continued to offer a compelling carry, as valuations have tightened in Europe we tempered our positive view on the asset class. Finally in currencies, we established overweight positions in the US dollar and the Canadian dollar against the pound sterling, as well as the US dollar against the euro, however due to tariff fears affecting the Canadian dollar and fading US exceptionalism, these positions were closed by the end of February. Towards the end of the quarter, we established an overweight position in the euro against the pound sterling, on the basis of the structural shift in European fiscal policy versus a poor UK growth outlook, strong fiscal headwinds, and a sell-off in gilt yields.
