Quarterly Fund Manager Review

The Fund generated a positive return, net of fees, during the quarter. It was ahead of its benchmark. The effects of positive stock selection in health care, information technology and utilities contributed to relative results. Consumer discretionary and communication services led relative detractors, followed by consumer staples. Health care was the top contributor as the Fund's returns outpaced those of the index across sectors including biotechnology, health care equipment and supplies, and life sciences tools and services. The Fund's weighting and notable stock selection added value across the health care industry during the period. Specifically, our holdings in Ireland-based biopharmaceutical company, Horizon Therapeutics, and US diabetes management firm, DexCom, posted gains. Stock selection in consumer discretionary detracted most from relative performance. Multiline retailer Ollie's Bargain Outlet faced broad headwinds at the end of the quarter, pulling prices down. Leisure products also lagged due to an overweight position and stock selection. The Fund's position in Peloton Interactive detracted from relative results. In communication services, our off-benchmark exposure to diversified telecommunication services was a headwind as stock selection resulted in a failure to keep pace with the broader asset class. In terms of activity, we increased our exposure to the consumer discretionary sector via purchases of Amazon.com and its South Korean internet and direct marketing retail counterpart, Coupang. We also bought holdings in APi Group, EQT and Roku. We decreased our exposure to the communication services sector, selling our position in Facebook. We also exited our position in Proofpoint, as it ceased trading following a private equity acquisition.
