Quarterly Fund Manager Review

The fund posted positive absolute returns over the quarter and outperformed its comparative index. Equities contributed significantly to returns, whilst fixed income generated marginally negative returns. The underlying managers position in precision instruments supplier Spectris supported returns following upgrades to Spectris' full year revenue guidance after it posted a strong set of results. Furthermore, the underlying manager's position in Liontrust Asset Management continued to attract strong inflows, benefiting from a compelling investment offering and successful marketing initiatives. Consumer discretionary holdings also outperformed as sports betting and gaming company Entain advanced amid news that its American peer DraftKings had made a takeover offer for the company. However, the underlying managers not holding oil & gas major Royal Dutch Shell dampened performance as energy stocks received a boost from rising fuel prices. The underlying managers holding in Intu continued to be a significant contributor to returns from an issuer standpoint. Furthermore, the bias from the underlying managers towards asset-backed securities (ABS) and COVID-19-sensitive names supported returns over the quarter, with securitised names such as Dignity Finance, AA Bond Co and Rac Bond Co supporting performance as the ABS sector outperformed. However, the overweight stance towards high yield bonds in some of the underlying manager's offset gains as market sentiment wobbled in September amid concerns related to China Evergrande Group, potential Fed tapering and rising gas prices. Our underlying managers maintained a modest short duration profile on average, as they believed that the duration rally towards the end of the last quarter and in July was overdone and that interest rates had the potential to rise. This underweight duration positioning aided returns as core government bond yields rose in August and September, amid volatility in interest rates as central banks adopted a tighter monetary policy stance.
