Quarterly Fund Manager Review

The Fund generated a positive return, net of fees, during the quarter. It lagged its benchmark. The biggest detractor came from the consumer discretionary sector. The industrials sector was another area of weakness. Conversely, the Fund benefited most from its positioning in the financials sector. The Fund's positioning in the health care sector and its zero weighting in telecommunications were further positives. A zero weighting in Asia-focused lender HSBC was a positive. Its shares were negatively affected by sentiment around the Chinese financial system. RELX contributed as investor confidence in a recovery in exhibitions gathered pace. The Fund's holding in Prudential aided returns, with the insurer posting a strong increase in sales in Asia and Africa despite the continued closure of the border between China and Hong Kong. Demand for pet health care boosted the revenues of Dechra Pharmaceuticals and lifted its share price to an all-time high. The share price of online retailer Asos fell sharply after the company's warning about a slowdown in sales. Smith & Nephew was weak on regulated price declines for its products in Chinese markets and the prolonged effect of Covid-19 on the resumption of elective procedure volumes. Shares in testing, certification and inspection specialist Intertek declined. Within the UK construction materials sector, we bought Genuit. We also bought Pets at Home, which operates highly complementary retail and vet businesses. We purchased Bodycote, which provides heat treatment of industrial metals and alloys. We also bought 3i, which is a UK company that invests proprietary capital across mid-market private equity and infrastructure investments. Finally, we bought Korean lithium battery manufacturer Samsung SDI, taking advantage of the Fund's ability to invest up to 20% of its assets overseas. We sold the positions in GlaxoSmithKline and Associated British Foods, and trimmed the holding in medical device specialist Smith & Nephew. We also reduced the holdings in miner Anglo American and animal health care business Dechra Pharmaceuticals to book some profits.
