Total returns are calculated using the sell (exit) price, net of management fees and gross of tax as if distributions of income have been reinvested at the actual distribution reinvestment price. The actual returns received by an investor will depend on the timing, buy and exit prices of individual transactions. Return of capital and the performance of your investment in the fund are not guaranteed. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Figures showing a period of less than one year have not been adjusted to show an annual total return. Figures for periods of greater than one year are on a per annum compound basis. The current benchmark may not have been the benchmark over all periods shown in the above chart and tables. The calculation of the benchmark performance links the performance of previous benchmarks and the current benchmark over the relevant time periods.

Commentary

The Australian Ethical Fixed Interest Fund returned 1.7% (1.9% for the wholesale fund) for the September quarter, slightly behind the benchmark index which returned 2.0% over the quarter.

The fund held a neutral duration through the September quarter relative to that of the Bloomberg Ausbond Composite Bond Index 0+. Declines in long bond yields pushed fixed income returns higher over July and August. The RBA delivered a rate cut in July, and markets continued to price in more central bank support action both domestically and in other developed markets. After starting the quarter at 1.32%, the Australian 10-year yield declined as much as 0.54% to a historic low of 0.88%. However, September saw the global decline in yields reverse on hopes of calming US/China trade relations as a resumption of trade talks in October was announced.

Domestic markets continue to expect further support to come from the RBA, with many in the market now looking to what other measures they could potentially employ to support the economy as the cash rate approaches zero, with unconventional measures expected to be applied if the cash rate reaches 0.5%. The RBA’s guidance is that it would not expect to see upward pressure on inflation without full employment. The fund remains in a neutral duration position.
