Quarterly manager commentary

Market Update

The third quarter of 2025 was a strong one for global equity markets, supported by the U.S. Federal Reserve's long-awaited pivot toward monetary easing, sustained enthusiasm for artificial intelligence, and robust corporate earnings, particularly within the technology sector.

With fears of a tariff-driven recession fading, the S&P 500 has climbed 14% year-to-date. The Dow Jones Industrial Average is up 9.1%, while the Nasdaq Composite has surged 17%.

The long-anticipated Federal Reserve rate cut, delivered in September, marked the central bank's first easing move of the year. The decision, aimed at cushioning a moderating economy, provided a meaningful tailwind for risk assets and helped reinforce the bullish tone in equities.

The bond market is reinforcing the upbeat tone. Expectations of further rate cuts have lifted government bond prices, pushing the 10-year U.S. Treasury yield down to 4.15%, its lowest level since June. Corporate bonds have rallied as well, narrowing credit spreads to multi-decade lows.

In contrast, the Australian share market delivered a more subdued performance relative to global peers. The S&P/ASX 200 traded within a narrow range through much of September, reflecting investor caution amid mixed domestic data and a subdued corporate reporting season.

A pivotal development for the local market was the Reserve Bank of Australia's September decision to leave the cash rate unchanged. While the RBA maintained a dovish bias and signalled its willingness to cut rates if required, the decision underscored lingering concerns about persistent inflation.

Portfolio Update

Over the September Quarter all underlying allocations had a positive contribution to performance, led by allocations to Watershed Emerging Leaders (Australian Mid-Small Cap) and International Equities.

Within the Fixed Income allocation, top contributors to performance included exposure to US Treasuries (USTB) and Emerging Market Debt (EBND). There were no changes to the Fixed Income allocation over the Quarter.

Within the Australian Equity allocation, top contributors to performance included Newmont Corporation (NEM), Mineral Resources (MIN), and Rio Tinto (RIO), while key detractors included Santos (STO), CSL Limited (CSL), and Transurban (TCL).

Within the Australian Equity Mid-Small Cap allocation, top contributors to performance included Life 360 (360), NRW Holdings (NWH), and Baby Bunting (BBN), while key detractors included Pinnacle Investment Management (PNI), Smartgroup (SIQ) and Bapcor (BAP). Over the quarter we added to the portfolio Breville Group (BRG) and Hansen Technologies (HSN), and sold Light and Wonder (LNW).

Portfolio changes during the quarter:

There were no changes to the Fixed Income allocation over the Quarter. Within the Australian Equity (Large Cap) allocation, we added to the portfolio Life 360 (360), Car Group (CAR), Pinnacle Investment Management (PNI), and REA Group (REA), and sold Origin Energy (ORG). Within the Australian Equity (Mid-Small Cap) allocation we added to the portfolio Breville Group (BRG) and Hansen Technologies (HSN), and sold Light and Wonder (LNW).

Market Outlook

As we move into the final quarter of the year, attention will turn to key economic data—particularly inflation and employment figures—for clues about the next steps in monetary policy. Comments from both Federal Reserve and RBA officials will be closely watched for signs of shifting sentiment.

The Moderate Portfolio maintains a defensive look-through exposure, consistent with our view that market valuations remain elevated and that the near-term outlook warrants caution. We are maintaining a higher level of cash within the portfolios, earmarked for allocation to global small and mid-cap equities once we see a more attractive entry point.

Looking forward, the Moderate Portfolio retains significant flexibility to respond to market dislocations and we actively reviewing new opportunities, particularly in the global small and mid-cap space as mentioned where we anticipate making a dedicated allocation in the near future.
