Quarterly manager commentary

Market Update

Global share markets made good gains in the September quarter. Much of the gains continued to be driven by central bank activity; notably in the US, where the Federal Reserve (Fed) lowered its benchmark fed funds rate by 0.50% to a target range of between 4.75% and 5.00%. Whilst the rate cut itself had been widely anticipated, the size of the move had been the subject of much debate in the lead up to the meeting as the Bank's focus shifted from taming inflation to protecting the labour market and the country's economic expansion. Speaking after the meeting, Chairman Jerome Powell said the decision to cut rates by 0.50% didn't imply that the inflation fight was over, but rather that officials had growing confidence it was time for a recalibration of the Bank's policy stance. He also noted that the larger-than-normal move shouldn't be interpreted as the beginning of a more aggressive rate cutting cycle. Regardless, the bigger move added to optimism the US economy can achieve a 'soft landing', whereby the Fed tames inflation without triggering an economic downturn. The Australian share market performed well over the period, helped by a positive lead from its global peers, a series of mostly positive earnings results and strong gains across the 'Big Four' banks and major miners, which together comprise a large part of the index.

Both global and domestic bonds recorded good gains for the quarter.

Portfolio Update

The portfolio delivered a return of 5.80% over the June quarter. Our global equity exposure and the direct Australian equity portfolio delivered positive absolute and excess returns over the period. Similarly, both the Russell Investments International Bond Fund – $A Hedged and the Russell Investments Australian Bond Fund recorded positive absolute and benchmark-relative performance for the quarter. Australian private credit manager Metrics Credit and the Russell Investments Australian Floating Rate Fund also performed well.

Portfolio changes during the quarter:

In July, we reduced the portfolio's allocation to Australian real estate investment trusts (A-REITs) in favour of global real estate investment trusts (G-REITs). G-REITs have not only underperformed A-REITs but also the broader global equity market. As a result, we believe G-REITs offer better value. G-REITs also provide greater diversification benefits, with the global listed property market comprising more than 300 constituents compared to just 33 in Australia.

We also increased the portfolio's allocations to global and Australian fixed income, which we expect to outperform cash as government bond yields fall in response to central bank interest rate cuts.

In early August, we modestly reduced our exposure to the Japanese yen within the dynamic real return core in response to the yen's strong rally against the US dollar.

We also trimmed our exposure to US Treasuries and Australian government bonds as prices rose in response to softer US jobs and manufacturing data.

Overall, the managed portfolio is aligned with its long-term asset allocation as we wait patiently for opportunities.

Market Outlook

Over the past 12 to 24 months, markets have faced significant challenges, driven largely by elevated inflation and major geopolitical events. Central banks responded by aggressively raising interest rates, which led to a substantial rise in market volatility. Despite these hurdles, the US economy has demonstrated remarkable resilience, with markets pricing in a 'soft landing' as inflationary pressures have eased and unemployment has remained low. As inflation continues to decline and job market pressures ease, the primary driver of market volatility may shift from inflation to growth. While the US labour market remains a key watchpoint, there is a risk that weakening job conditions could impact consumer spending, leading to slower economic activity.

Looking ahead, we expect higher levels of volatility to continue, with active management to play an important role in navigating through it. We expect to increase growth asset exposure on major market reversals and decrease growth asset exposure on market rallies. This is a very important time to remain flexible as there are competing forces related to inflation and growth.

We retain the same themes as recent months, i.e. a preference for less expensive equity markets versus US equities and a peer-relative overweight to the value factor.
