1 The managed portfolio performance represents total return for the periods. Returns have been calculated using the time-weighted method, they assume distributions are reinvested and are after investment management fees and indirect costs. Total and growth returns include accrued distributions, while income return includes paid distributions only. Returns do not take into account tax payable. Sustainable investment

The portfolio employs a responsible and sustainable framework for investing.

The underlying managed funds forming part of the managed portfolio have been selected on the likelihood of meeting their investment objectives and how the relevant fund manager integrates environmental, social and governance (ESG) considerations into their decision making. We invest in underlying managed funds that, based on the information provided by the relevant fund managers, avoid investing in companies with material involvement in activities we consider to have a negative impact on the environment or the community.

The assessment is centred around the following sustainability principles:

1. Transitioning to a low carbon economy.
2. Avoid material investments in thermal coal, tobacco, gambling, pornography and controversial weapons.
3. Encourage positive sustainable social and environmental outcomes for the community.

Assets are considered on a case-by-case basis, and we do not apply a particular weighting system or metrics when taking into account labour standards or environmental, social or ethical considerations. Other considerations in selecting an underlying fund include whether the relevant fund manager is a signatory to the United Nations Principles for Responsible Investment (UNIPRI) or is certified by Responsible Investment Association Australasia (RIAA).

Currently, we do not take ESG considerations into account in selecting Cash assets. The underlying funds are reviewed on an on-going basis, however on an annual basis we reconfirm whether the underlying fund continues to be consistent with our sustainability principles. If we form that view (based on information provided by the relevant underlying fund manager) that the underlying fund no longer meets our selection criteria from either a sustainable or investment perspective, we will generally take steps to remove and replace that underlying investment as soon as practicable.

Quarterly manager commentary

Market Update

Financial markets shook off a stumble in early August to consolidate their year to date gains, supported by monetary policy easing across The US, UK, EU and China.

- Developed market equities (+4.8%) consolidated their strong start to the year, rising through the September quarter. After a falter in early August, global equities – led by the US (+5.9%) – recovered strongly as the US Fed commenced monetary policy easing.
- Value was ascendant with the Russell 1000 Value index (+9.4%) substantially outperforming the growth variant (+3.2%) as The Magnificent Seven tech stocks underperformed despite robust second quarter earnings results for Meta, Apple and Alphabet.
- Chinese equities (+22.4%) were resurgent on the back of a substantial monetary policy stimulus package intended to resuscitate the economy and support the embattled property market. The Strong Performance of Chinese equities saw emerging market equities (+6.8%) outperform developed markets.
- The ASX 300 (+7.8%) outperformed the global market, supported by falling bond yields, easing inflation concerns, better than expected corporate earnings results and anticipation of rising Chinese demand.

Portfolio Update

The portfolio delivered a return of 4.77% over the June quarter. The key driver of active returns was asset allocation. whilst manager alpha detracted a small amount.

In Asset Allocation the key detractor from returns was the funds small underweight to Global Property which rallied significantly on the back of falling bond yields, as well as a small underweight to Australian shares.

Within manager alpha, global equities underperformed and drove most of the negative contribution whilst Australian shares help offset some of this with outperformance.

A fall in energy benefitted the portfolios underweight positions especially in Australian equities and the start of a rotation away from some of the higher growth technology stocks towards more defensive industrials and mid cap names benefitted the active managers. The Pandal Horizon Sustainable Australian share fund alongside the Ausbil Active Sustainable Equity strategies contributed to most of the outperformance. Also contributing positively to active returns was the Pandal Multi Asset target return fund. In Global Equities the majority of the negative alpha contribution was from the Impax Sustainable fund which was driven by stock selection within Tech and Health Care Stocks.

Portfolio changes during the quarter:

During the September quarter the portfolio made changes to the strategic and active asset allocation settings. In regard to the strategic asset allocation changes, the primary aim was to increase the allocation to more sustainable investment funds. This led to a reduction in the Alternatives asset class and an increase in Australian and International shares asset classes as well as the Australian fixed income asset class. Within the International shares asset class, the less sustainably managed Vanguard Ethically Conscious International Shares Fund was replaced with a combination of the AXA Sustainable Equity Fund, Dimensional Global Sustainability Trust and Janus Henderson Global Sustainable Fund. As well as an improvement in the overall sustainability traits of the portfolio, the aggregate fee from the underlying managers was also reduced.

In regard to the active asset allocation changes, the underweight to GREITs was closed. The GREITs position was closed due to the potential for the asset class to attain support with global central banks generally moving to dovish interest rate policies, and also positive economic surprises in particular in the US. At the same time, an underweight to Australian shares was introduced reflecting high stock market valuations and a relatively unattractive cyclical outlook.

Market Outlook

Uncertainty surrounding economic growth alongside high starting valuations provide a challenging backdrop for markets to negotiate. While the nascent monetary easing cycle is supportive for risk assets, much of the anticipated benefit has already been priced into valuations. We maintain caution and our equity exposures remain primarily in high quality markets which have more attractive valuations and where earnings growth
