

April 2026

The Fund aims to generate long-term investment returns through a combination of income and capital growth by investing in funds which are from a broadly diversified range of global shares and bonds. The Fund invests in a portfolio of index funds comprising approximately 20% in global shares (including Emerging Markets) and approximately 80% in global bonds and other similar fixed income investments (e.g. corporate bonds, government backed securities, index-linked bonds). The fund may also invest in collective investment schemes, transferable securities, deposits, moneymarket instruments and cash.

The value of investments within the Fund can fall as well as rise and is not guaranteed – you may get back less than was paid in. The fund may use derivatives for the purpose of efficient portfolio management, reduction of risk or to meet its respective investment objective if this is permitted and appropriate. The euro value of overseas assets held in the fund may rise and fall as a result of exchange rate fluctuations. In order to mitigate some of the currency risk, a proportion of the overseas exposure may be invested in a currency hedged share class.

Income received by the fund will be reinvested and reflected in the unit price of the fund.

■ Standard Life Global Index 20 Fund

Performance is net of the fund's Total Expense Ratio (annual management charge plus additional expenses) and portfolio transaction costs. The actual return on a policy will be lower due to other charges (including adviser charges), and relevant taxes. Income received by the fund is reinvested and reflected in its performance.

Definition:

S/L - (Since Launch)

Cash - may include bank and building society deposits, other money market instruments such as Certificates of Deposits (CDs), Floating Rate Notes (FRNs) including Asset Backed Securities (ABSs), Money Market Funds and allowances for tax, dividends and interest due if appropriate.

Volatility rating - Indicates how much the fund price might move compared to other funds. The higher the volatility rating, the less stable the fund price is likely to be. You can use this to help you choose between funds with different volatility ratings. The volatility ratings of our funds are calculated using the European Security and Markets Authority (ESMA) guidelines, which use a seven point scale to rate funds based on their five year annualised volatilities. Higher volatility ratings typically mean greater potential investment returns over the longer term. But high volatility funds can suddenly fall or rise in value. Volatility ratings are regularly reviewed and may change over time.

Passive Management - Passive management is an investment approach where a fund aims to track the performance of a market or index, rather than trying to beat it. Instead of selecting individual investments, the fund is designed to closely follow a benchmark (such as the FTSE All-Share or MSCI World Index) by holding the same, or very similar, investments in the same proportions.

Total Expense Ratio - The Total Expense Ratio (TER) shows the annual cost of running a fund, expressed as a percentage of the fund's assets. It includes the ongoing costs of managing and operating the fund, such as the Annual Management Charge (AMC), administration, custody, and other regular expenses. These costs are taken from the fund over the year and are reflected in the fund's price and performance.

Key Risks

Below we document the specific or heightened risks applicable to this fund rather than an exhaustive list.

The value of bonds and fixed income related securities is affected by influential factors such as interest rates, inflation, credit spreads and volatility which, in turn, are driven by other factors including political, economic news, company earnings and significant corporate events. Movements in currency exchange rates can adversely affect the return of your investment.

While the Fund's bond allocation invests predominantly in investment grade bonds there is always a risk that the bond issuers may not be able to pay the income as promised or could fail to repay the capital amount used to purchase the bond. Where a bond market has a low number of buyers and/or sellers, it can be hard to sell particular bonds at an anticipated price and/or in a timely manner.

The fund invests in equities and equity related securities. These are sensitive to variations in the stock market which can be volatile and change substantially in short periods of time.

The Fund may invest in China A shares and in other emerging market equities and bonds. Investing in China A shares and emerging markets involves a greater risk of loss than investing in more developed markets due to among other factors, greater political, tax, economic, foreign exchange, liquidity and regulatory risks.

Currency risk - Movements in currency exchange rates can adversely impact the return of your investment. Currency hedging may be used but is not guaranteed to completely eliminate currency risk.

Counterparty risk - The insolvency of any institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments may expose the fund to financial loss.

Inflation risk - The value of your investments may not be worth as much in the future due to changes in purchasing power resulting from inflation.

Index tracking risk - The fund is not expected to track the performance of the underlying indices at all times with perfect accuracy. The fund is, however, expected to provide investment results that, before expenses, generally correspond to the price and yield performance of the indices.

Index sampling risk - As the fund uses an index sampling technique whereby a representative sample of securities are selected to represent an index, there is the risk that the securities selected for the fund may not, in the aggregate, approximate the full index.

Use of derivatives - The Fund may use investment techniques (including Derivatives) to seek to protect and enhance the value of the Fund and to manage the Fund's risks. Derivatives, such as futures, options and swaps, are linked to the rise and fall of other assets. In other words, they "derive" their price from another asset. They can generate returns when share prices and/or indices fall. Investing in derivatives carries the risk of reduced liquidity, substantial loss and increased volatility in adverse market conditions, such as a failure amongst market participants. The use of derivatives may result in the Fund being leveraged (where economic exposure and thus the potential for loss by the Fund exceeds the amount it has invested) and in these market conditions the effect of leverage will be to magnify losses. The fund does not make extensive use of derivatives.

Securities lending - The assets in this fund may be used for the purpose of security lending in order to earn an additional level of return and offset the cost of the fund. While securities lending increases the level of risk in the fund it may provide an opportunity to increase the investment return.

How ESG is integrated into the investment strategy of the fund

The Fund is classified as Article 6 under the EU's Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation ("SFDR"). Article 6 funds don't promote ESG characteristics or have a specific sustainable investment objective.

Furthermore, investments within this Fund do not take into account the EU Taxonomy criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Further information on SFDR can be found at www.standardlife.ie/sfdr.

This is a passively managed fund and aims to track the performance of a specified index by holding a portfolio of all or similar securities held in the index itself. The underlying index that this fund tracks is not an ESG aligned index and does not incorporate ESG criteria when considering companies for inclusion in the index itself. As such this Fund does not incorporate Environmental, Social or Governance (ESG) considerations into the investment strategy, nor are there any specific ESG screens applied for investments to be eligible for inclusion in the fund.

Vanguard Asset Management (Europe), the investment manager of the Fund, believe that active stewardship helps to create long-term value for investors. As an investment product and service provider and distributor, Vanguard Europe has a responsibility to maximise long-term returns for investors and considers sustainability risks from a financial-impact perspective. Vanguard Europe fulfils its responsibility to investors by being judicious in the funds it offers, managing those funds with rigour and assessing material risks to long-term financial performance..
