What is this product?

It is an insurance-based investment contract. You can choose to invest in one or more funds we offer. Each fund is divided into units (like shares). Your bond's value is determined by the number of units it holds in each fund, and the price of those units.

The SW Wealth Cautious Fund aims to achieve long-term growth by investing in a diversified portfolio of investments, mainly through other funds such as collective investment schemes. The Fund will provide exposure mainly to fixed interest securities (including mainly UK corporate and government bonds, also overseas corporate bonds, plus high yield bonds). In addition the Fund will provide exposure to equities (mainly UK, but also overseas and emerging markets), some exposure to property (both UK and overseas) and limited exposure to cash, commodities and other asset classes. Exposure to fixed interest securities and equities will include investment in Absolute Return funds. This Fund currently invests through the Schroders Personal Wealth SPW IPS Income Portfolio and the Schroders Personal Wealth SPW IPS Growth Portfolio. Please note we may change this approach and use a different manager or funds in the future.

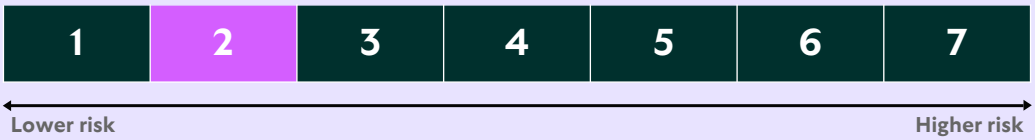
The bond is designed for investors who:

- want potential capital growth or an income over the medium to long term (at least 5 to 10 years).
- want to initially invest at least £3,000 or make additional payments of at least £1,000.
- accept their bond's value will fluctuate and they might not get back the full amount invested.

On death, we'll pay either 100% or 101% of the bond's value, depending on your age at the start of the bond (or 110% if death is caused by an accident). There is no additional cost for this cover. The bond has no fixed term and will continue until you ask us to cash it in, or you die.

What are the risks and what could I get in return?

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of the Investment Portfolio Bond investing in the SW Wealth Cautious Fund compared to other products and funds. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.



The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 10 years and that you remain invested in this Fund. If you change funds, the risk indicator may change.

We have classified this Fund as 2 out of 7, which is a low risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a low level.

The value of your investment, and any income from it, is not guaranteed and can go up and down depending on the performance of each of the assets in the Fund. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

If we are not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment. However, you may benefit from a consumer protection scheme - see the section 'What happens if Scottish Widows Limited is unable to pay out'. The indicator shown above does not consider this protection.

Investment performance information

The performance of the Fund's assets will be significantly influenced by a range of economic and market performance factors such as interest rates, foreign exchange rate, economic growth, political, economic and international developments and market trends prevalent during the period of investment. Investment decisions taken by the Fund manager are also likely to have a material impact on performance. This includes investment decisions to allocate more or less to permitted asset classes such as equity, fixed interest, property and cash as well as decisions taken about the investment strategy utilised within each asset class (such as actively managed versus passive).

The Fund is not managed with reference to a specific index or benchmark.

What could affect my return positively?

The Fund will achieve higher returns if the asset classes it is exposed to provide positive returns. If the Fund manager selects actively managed investment strategies for specific asset classes and regions, and the manager selects securities that provide positive returns, this will affect the Fund returns positively.

The Fund may achieve greater levels of return if the general level of interest rates fall or if credit conditions generally improve. The Fund may also achieve greater levels of returns if the regional, sectoral allocation and individual credit quality of its selected securities improves.

What could affect my return negatively?

The Fund will achieve lower returns if the asset classes it is exposed to provide negative returns. If the Fund manager selects actively managed investment strategies for specific asset classes and regions, and the securities selected within those strategies provide negative returns, this will affect the Fund returns negatively.

The Fund may achieve reduced levels of return or losses if the general level of interest rates rise or if credit conditions generally worsen. The Fund may also achieve reduced levels of returns if the regional, sectoral allocation and individual credit quality of its selected securities deteriorates.

If you cash in your investment at a time of adverse market conditions, when values of investments such as equity, fixed interest securities or property are down, you could achieve lower than expected returns, including the possibility that you will make a loss on your investment.

What happens if Scottish Widows is unable to pay out?

The Reduction in Yield (RIY) shows what impact the total costs you pay will have on the investment return you might get. The total costs take into account one-off, ongoing and incidental costs.

How long should I hold it and can I take money out early?

As the bond is a medium to long-term investment, it's designed to be held for at least five to ten years, but can be held for as long as you want. When you cash in, or if you switch between funds, there may be a delay of up to one month for this Fund. The value of your bond can go down as well as up and you could get back less than you invested, particularly if you cash in your bond in the short term.

You can make regular and one-off withdrawals. Withdrawals could be greater than any growth achieved and could reduce your bond's value below the amount invested. You should refer to the Additional Information Document for the conditions that apply and information on tax.

For new investments, you can change your mind within 30 days of when you receive your cancellation notice. You'll need to tell us in writing and we'll return your money less any fall in its value.
